

FACULTY OF ENVIRONMENTAL DESIGN

General Information and Policies

The Faculty offers a limited number of scholarships, fellowships, bursaries and special awards, as well as Graduate Research Scholarships, Graduate Teaching Assistantships, and Graduate Service Assistantships (please refer to "University Assistantships" in the Faculty of Graduate Studies section of this Calendar). Financial assistance is awarded by the Student Awards Committee of the Faculty. In order to be considered, students are required to complete an application for financial assistance, and to be eligible for Graduate Research Scholarships they are required to submit a research proposal endorsed by a Faculty member. Graduate Teaching Assistantships are rarely awarded. All applicants and students registered in the Faculty should consult the appropriate sections of the Calendar for the availability of financial assistance in all forms and to apprise themselves of the deadline dates for application to the Faculty and other granting bodies.

I. Awards in the Faculty of Environmental Design

The awards listed below are, under the conditions described, open to students registered in or proceeding to a full-time program within the Faculty of Environmental Design. Unless otherwise noted, no applications are necessary as all eligible students are automatically considered. For information on awards offered by agencies external to the University, students should refer to the "Awards for Graduate Study" booklet available from the Faculty of Graduate Studies, University of Calgary, 2500 University Drive N.W., Calgary, Alberta T2N 1N4.

The University assumes liability for the payment of scholarships, bursaries, prizes and other awards only to the extent that gifts from donors, or returns from particular investments for these purposes will permit.

As this information is published a considerable time before the opening of the session, the University reserves the right to make whatever changes circumstances may require, including cancellation or addition of particular awards.

III. University Scholarship

For information on University awards open to students in all faculties, please refer to the Awards and Financial Assistance section of this Calendar.

IV. Government Financial Assistance

The provincial and federal governments make assistance available in the form of loans to students. In order to be eligible for assistance, a student must be a Canadian citizen or Permanent Resident of Canada and provide sufficient evidence that financial assistance is essential to enable the student to continue his/her education. The amount of assistance varies according to marital status, the number of dependents and enrollment status. Further details and application forms are available from

Student Awards and Financial Aid,
Room 124, MacKimmie Library Block,
University of Calgary,
Calgary, Alberta,
Canada T2N 1N4.

V. International Students

International students planning to do graduate work at the University of Calgary should be aware that most Canadian scholarship programs require Canadian citizenship or Permanent Resident status. However, the Government of Canada does support a number of programs designed to assist individuals who wish to study in Canada on a study permit. These programs are usually organized through agencies of the individual's own government, and prospective students are encouraged to explore these possibilities. These include the Colombo Plan, Special Commonwealth Africa Assistance, Economic Assistance to Francophone Africa, and Caribbean Assistance Program. Application is made through the Ministry of Education or through the appropriate government department in their own country.

VI. Other Awards

The following entries describe national scholarships which may be applicable to graduate programs at the University of Calgary. Recipients of any of these awards held at the University of Calgary may have their program fees remitted by the Faculty of Graduate Studies.

Field of Study: Intended for university students at the graduate level in disciplines relating to heritage preservation and research, focussing on Alberta. This can include studies in architectural restoration; area conservation and research, preservation planning and/or interpretive development of archaeological, historical or palaeontological sites in the province, as well as related thematic work.

Value: One to two Awards up to $3,000 may be given per year, based on the worthiness of the applicant's projects, and funds available from the endowment. However, the awards need not be made every year.

Duration: In keeping with the Foundation's policy, the duration of the award will be two years. Funding is for travel, subsistence while travelling, and material costs associated with the research work. Payment of funds will be made on the submission of invoices and receipts for costs incurred. Other arrangements may be negotiated. A detailed report on the research completed must be provided before the award is paid in full. Successful candidates are requested to submit a copy of their final thesis to the Foundation. Only one award is given per student.

Eligibility: The applicant must be a Canadian citizen or Permanent Resident, and have been an Alberta resident for at least six months prior to the submission of the application. Selections will be based upon demonstrated academic achievement or equivalent work experience, and the relative value of the project to Alberta.

Canadian International Development Agency Award Programme for Canadians

Value and Duration: $10,000 for up to 12 months. Supported by the award, the duration of the field research/work/internship component on the host country must be of 3 consecutive months at minimum.

Number: The number of awards will depend on budgetary considerations.

Purpose: To give Canadians the opportunity to contribute to the implementation of CIDA's development priorities and to enhance the professional, technical and cross-cultural skills of Canadians who wish to develop expertise in international development. The program provides funding for research and service projects which will be of benefit to the host country and the individual. The program also aims to promote better international linkages and encourage long-term international partnerships and cooperation.

Applicant Eligibility: All applicants must meet the following conditions:

- (1) be Canadian citizens or permanent residents of Canada at the time of application;
- (2) be registered in a recognized graduate program at the time of application (Innovative Research Awards and International Enterprise Cooperation Awards);
- (3) have relevant qualifications and substantive work experience related to the requirements of the proposed development project (Professional Leadership Awards);
- (4) demonstrate a commitment to international development.

Project Eligibility: To be considered, the project must:

- (1) be feasible, of sound methodology and practical in orientation;
- (2) contribute in an original but practical and focused manner to addressing a developmental need of the host country;
- (3) address one or more of CIDA's six development priorities: basic human needs; women in development; infrastructure services; human rights, democracy, good governance; private sector development; and the environment;
- (4) be carried out in collaboration with a host country organization such as a public/private agency, an educational institution, a non-governmental organization or a private company;
- (5) be overseen by an advisor in Canada committed to assist the applicant during the project implementation and provide a brief assessment of the project after its completion. For students applying under the Innovative Research and International Enterprise Cooperation Awards, the project advisor must be their thesis supervisor or program director. Applicants under the Professional Leadership Awards may select an advisor in Canada or in the host country.
