Indigenous Viewbook 2019-20
The University of Calgary acknowledges the traditional territories of the people of the Treaty 7 region in Southern Alberta, which includes the Blackfoot Confederacy (comprising the Siksika, Piikani, and Kainai
First Nations), as well as the Tsuut’ina First Nation and the Stoney Nakoda (including the Chiniki, Bearspaw, and Wesley First Nations).
The City of Calgary is also home to the Métis Nation of Alberta, Region III. UCalgary is situated on land adjacent to where the Bow River meets the Elbow River, and the traditional Blackfoot name of this place is “Moh’kins’tsis,” which we now call the City of Calgary.

Direct entry (high school)
The general admission requirement for UCalgary is Alberta Grade 12 graduation, or equivalent, and the completion of four other faculty-specific courses at the 30 level (or equivalent).

For more details, visit ucalgary.ca/future-students/undergraduate/requirements.

Indigenous admissions process
Our Indigenous admissions process works to ensure equitable access, participation and success of undergraduate Indigenous learners. If you’ve self-identified as Indigenous on your application form, you’ll automatically receive consideration, first under the regular competitive admission process, and then under the Indigenous admissions process, if needed.

If you’re granted admission under the Indigenous process, you’ll be asked to submit documentation to verify your Indigenous identity.

To learn more, visit ucalgary.ca/future-students/undergraduate/indigenous/admissions_process.

Transfer students
If you’ve attended an accredited/recog-nized post-secondary institution and have completed 12 or more units (four courses or more), you’ll be considered for admission on the basis of your post-secondary academic standing.

Visit our academic calendar at ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/a-5-3.

Adult students
You can be considered for admission as an adult student if you’re 21 years of age or older and have completed fewer than 12 units (fewer than four courses) of post-secondary study. You must present English Language Arts 30-1 or an acceptable equivalent. Additional Grade 12 level high school courses, or equivalent, are normally required by the faculty to which you’re seeking admission.

Visit our academic calendar at ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/a-5-4.

Diverse qualifications admission process
If you’ve achieved excellence outside your academics or have overcome significant hardships, you may seek admission under the diverse qualifications admission process.

To learn more, visit ucalgary.ca/future-students/undergraduate/diverse-qualifications.

self-identify on your application
Self-identification allows the university to support you through the admissions process, assist you with academic advising and referrals, and provide you with updates about cultural and social activities for Indigenous students. Additionally, Indigenous applicants are eligible to apply for a variety of funding options. These opportunities include community-based scholarships, as well as UCalgary’s Indigenous-specific scholarships, bursaries and awards.

Writing Symbols Lodge
your home on campus
As the hub of Indigenous life on campus, the Writing Symbols Lodge encourages student success with a variety of services, facilities, programs and events.

Examples include:

- Indigenous student orientation
  Orientation offers workshops and activities to help you become familiar with the university before starting classes.

- Student success, academic support and community building
  Our programs and events are designed to support your academic and cultural needs. Examples include cultural crafting, pet therapy, connections to Traditional Knowledge Keepers, language cafes and more.

- Cultural events
  Cultural events are offered throughout the school year and include pipe ceremonies, workshops, Indigenous Awareness Week, social gatherings and more.

- Graduation banquet and powwow
  Indigenous graduates participate in a traditional powwow that includes a Circle of Honour, where graduates are celebrated and receive ceremonial gifts.

- Indigenous student leadership opportunities
  Student employment, mentorship and advisory opportunities are available.

- Student facilities
  Access a computer lab, the Indigenous Students’ Council office, Red Lodge Student Lounge, study space, and a ceremonial room.

Indigenous Student Access Program (ISAP)

This cohort-based transition-year program offers an alternative access route for Indigenous students to enter our post-secondary degree programs. In addition to taking first-year university courses, you’ll receive enhanced academic support including a designated advisor and one-on-one academic advising, access to cultural workshops, leadership training, peer support and tutorials.

While in ISAP, you can take up to four university classes per semester. Classes will normally be a combination of ISAP core classes combined with selected options based on your academic goals. You can also take an upgrading class concurrent with your university classes, if required.

Applying for scholarships, bursaries and awards

By applying for admission, you’re automatically considered for entrance awards. You should then complete the competitive high school awards application in your Student Centre (my.ucalgary.ca) to be considered for all other awards.

For detailed information on applying for our high school scholarships, bursaries and awards, visit ucalgary.ca/awards.

Visit campus
The best way to get to know your future campus is by experiencing it on a campus tour. By request, we offer a tour for future Indigenous students and their guests, which is led by current students and is focused on storytelling. It offers details about Indigenous culture and community on campus. All campus tours conclude with the option to speak with an advisor to explore programs and admission requirements. You can also attend campus events such as Indigenous U, Open House, application workshops, faculty sessions and awards information sessions.

“Studying at UCalgary has opened so many doors for me and allowed me to learn and grow in ways I’d never imagined. I’m incredibly grateful for the opportunity to be here.”

JASMINE MCDERMOTT, THIRD-YEAR MECHANICAL ENGINEERING STUDENT

Jasmine grew up in Calgary, Alberta. Her Cree grandfather, from the Sawridge First Nation near the town of Slave Lake, Alberta, is a Sixties Scoop survivor. Jasmine continues to explore her family’s Indigenous heritage.
