Student and Enrolment Services (SES) continues to nurture a community that values student engagement and helps students explore their potential.

Our units encourage student success through sharing and developing best practices, developing and maintaining programs, and supporting the academic enterprise of the University of Calgary.

In the year ahead, we will continue to align our work with the university’s Eyes High strategy. We’ll do this via six thematic priorities: student success and engagement, a fair and just campus, health and well-being, inclusive community, innovation and sustainability. These themes will guide us as we set our SES priorities.

We look forward to the upcoming year as we support and enhance the student experience while building on our past achievements.

Student Wellness Services

Located in the SU Wellness Centre, Student Wellness Services works collaboratively to create a campus environment where students, faculty and staff feel empowered to support each other and participate in maintaining their own health and wellbeing. Everyone has a role to play in creating a healthy campus community. Using a student-centered approach, they offer comprehensive, holistic and accessible programs and services to foster all dimensions of wellness. This includes health services, counselling, access to the Faith and Spirituality Centre, and various events and programs.

GOALS FOR 2016/17:

- Reviewing service models for increased capacity
  - Adopt new model of mental health services
  - Expand peer support options
  - Review services and initiatives for Indigenous students
  - Enhance referral pathways

Supporting policy work

- Implement campus mental health strategy
- Establish committee and begin regional work for Post-secondary Educational Collaborative: Alcohol Harms (PEP-AH)
- Support development of sexual violence strategy

Collaborating between units and with community

- Establish productive relationships with key campus partners and develop relationships with external resources to support student wellness

KEY ACHIEVEMENTS:

- Reviewed service models for increased capacity
  - A full review of counselling services led to a new mental health services model, modeled on established stepped care practices. This model is referred to as “coordinated care” and aims to ensure that a student is served in a coordinated and responsive manner. Students seeking support complete an initial assessment session with a staff member to discuss primary concerns and relevant supports. Students are then matched to relevant groups, online materials, peer support, problem solving sessions, or short term counseling, with multiple assessment points. Key features of coordinated care:
    - For many student concerns, group support is an effective intervention. We offer groups such as anxiety management, roots of resiliency, and mindfulness.

- Workshops and seminars are offered throughout the year, and students can access wellness online resources at any time through the D2L learning platform. Wellness online modules are developed and updated internally by staff.
- Students who require clinical mental health assessments or specialized, long term care are supported during their transition to services with community partners.
- Social workers and psychologists are embedded in the Student Success Centre, Foothills Campus (for medical, veterinary medicine and health sciences students’), Career Service and Residence Services, as well as in the Student Ombuds area.
- The Flourishing Peer Support Program was established with a pilot program in the departments of History and Philosophy.
- Man Up for Mental Health began offering evening peer support.
- The Campus Community Hub was opened in March 2017 and is a space for students, staff, and faculty to engage in wellness activities and social connectiveness. Staffed by the Health Promotion Team, the goal is to establish the Hub as a place for social engagement and non-clinical health and community awareness. The Hub runs regular events and offers opportunities to provide support and a peer presence encouraging student engagement, positioning the space as a centre for non-academic learning about flourishing on campus.
- PEP-AH Advisory Committee was established with three members from Student Wellness Services. A Western Symposium was hosted in March 2017. Students had a role in introducing speakers, leading table discussions and acting as general hosts. There was a mixture of research presented as well as the opportunity to work toward goals and consider successes and challenges.
- Inter-disciplinary teams with student support advisors were established, including initial discussions and planning with the Faith & Spirituality Centre and the Native Centre on projects supporting understanding of Indigenous culture.
- A project was established with Counselling, Case Management and Health Services to begin working on a common referral form and consultation opportunities.
- Health Services added a full time registered nurse position to support physicians and psychiatrists in the clinic. Some of the responsibilities of this role include:
  - Increased communication within Health Services regarding mental health programming
  - Consultation with Physicians and Psychiatry regarding patient management
  - Case management of psychiatry patients
  - Assistance with student referrals
  - Liaising with Counselling, Student Support Advisors and Student at Risk Team
  - Emergency triage support for students presenting in crisis

Supporting policy work
• Campus Mental Health Strategy: The University of Calgary’s 2016 Mental Health Strategy identified six strategic focus areas and 28 key recommendations. Organization of a formal strategy implementation committee, working sub-committees and the ongoing development of processes are in place to ensure that relevant campus policies and processes are supportive of mental health on campus. The one year anniversary of the strategy, in March 2017, announced full or partial progress on 26 of the 28 recommendations. One of the first tasks this committee completed was to prioritize the 28 recommendations into short (one year), medium (three years), and long-term (five years) goals using a group facilitated exercise. Through this process, a set of recommendations were identified as early priorities and are currently being worked on by the implementation committee and sub-committees. The membership of the implementation committee includes representatives from wellness, faculties, teaching and learning, communications, researchers and the student community.

• Student Wellness Services has been evaluating all of its health promotion and direct service initiatives since 2013. The results of these evaluation processes have informed the development of programming and prompted the facilitation of focus groups with students. The Mental Health Strategy Advisory Implementation Committee Evaluation Sub-committee invited students to attend a series of workshops designed to gather feedback from students on their current knowledge and comfort implementing evaluation tools. Student participant feedback was gathered on opportunities for further guidance and resources. In addition to measuring program outcomes, this evaluation sub-committee will also be examining ways to measure student mental health, including innovative measures of social connectedness and resiliency, and program outcomes at the university level. These methods will supplement the National College Health Assessment (NCHA) data that is already being implemented at the University of Calgary.

• Indigenous Strategy: The leadership team reviewed relevant recommendations from the Truth and Reconciliation Calls to Action Report 2015. Two staff attended one of the “gathering stories” community engagement dialogues.

• Sexual Violence Policy: Contributions were made to the website, resources, and advocate job profile. Calgary Communities Against Sexual Assault training was available for student support advisors and student at risk team members. The Associate Director, Counselling chaired the survivor subcommittee.

Collaboration between units and with community
• Launched 24-hour mental health support to provide after-hours care. Any student can access 24/7 mental health support at the SJ/Wellness Centre. When one calls the Wellness Centre after hours, one has the option to speak with a crisis counselor from the Wood’s Homes Community Resource Team, or a highly trained volunteer at the Distress Centre (available in over 200 languages). This assistance is also available to the families of students.

• The revised “Responding to Students in Distress” folder was launched, which was adopted by Staff Wellness to create “Assisting Colleagues in Distress.”

• The Healthy Campus Alberta community of practice continues to flourish and expand. The Senior Director sits on the design team, which has been very active building a dynamic and engaged community. Through connections that the facilitator made during a session supporting the UCalgary Indigenous Strategy, Indigenous college are engaging and have a representative on the design team. We have also begun moving toward a new structure with a consulting team from OHM Alberta to support the independence of the COP and garner increased resources. Healthy Campus Alberta, in collaboration with the university, hosted the 2017 Annual Wellness Summit on Building Resilient Communities. Announced at the Summit was the commitment of Advanced Education to supporting mental health and addictions on provincial post-secondary campuses.

• Alberta universities, in collaboration with Advanced Education, have developed a common mental health and addictions framework and metrics. Preliminary provincial metrics are established, which the University of Calgary and others are acceding. This provincial work was highlighted at the national CACUSS conference this year.

• We continue to collaborate with Staff Wellness and the Student Union to provide a mass influenza clinic for the campus community. This will be the third year in succession the influenza clinic will be held. This year, we reached our goal of establishing on-going funding for clinic operations and space. A new location is in MacEwan Student Centre where the clinic has been and will continue to be held in the future.

• The Faculty of Veterinary Medicine vaccination program was piloted during the 2016/2017 academic year.

Supporting Student Accessability to Services
• Reception staff are fully cross trained in booking processes and procedures for medical and counselling appointments to increase student access to wellness services.

• In spring 2017, a new call centre will provide quicker and more reliable phone service. We will also allow two additional phone lines for access to counselling services. There will be less offline time, and call flows can be managed to optimize callers’ accessibility to all services.

• Communication within Health Services regarding mental health programming increased.

• Consultation took place with Physicians and Psychiatry regarding patient management.

• Case management of psychiatry patients was provided.

• Assistance was provided for student deferrals.

• UCalgaryStrong received a private donation

• Movember: received a grant through Dr. Keith Dobson, Department of Psychology
