

Colleen Nesbitt attributes her love of literature to early reading and passionate English high school teachers at Western Canada High School. As a first year medical student at the Cumming School of Medicine, Class of 2023, she recognizes everyday how language impacts communication and connection.