

Kayla Feragen is a second year medical student at the Cumming School of Medicine. She was born and raised in Banff, and attended the University of Victoria, graduating with a Bachelor of Science in Biology. Books, writing, and mountains have always been an important part of her life.

2015