

Bernice Fonseka is a second year medical student at the Cumming School of Medicine. She was born and raised in Calgary, and graduated with a Bachelor's degree in Neuroscience. Science has always been her path in life, but books and writing are old friends that she revisits with pleasure every now and then.

2016