INTERNATIONAL STUDENT SERVICES – UNIVERSITY OF CALGARY

(Image courtesy University of Calgary)

Welcome to the University of Calgary! This document is a self-guided tour that will help you explore some of the buildings, services, and spaces on Main Campus remotely! If you have any questions,

- Talk to a Welcome Centre student advisor (virtually): www.ucalgary.ca/student-services/welcome-centre
- Email iss@ucalgary.ca and the International Student Services team

As a helpful tip, on the UCalgary map, each building is labelled with an abbreviated series of letters (e.g. MacEwan Student Centre = MSC). Each classroom or office has a room number; the first number usually tells you which floor it's on (e.g. 275 means Room 275 on the 2nd floor of a building).

COVID-19 Updates: most campus services have remote/online/virtual services. Please visit office websites directly to learn how to access their services best at this time.

Check that physical spaces, offices, and study spaces are open before you plan to visit offices in-person if needed. If you're visiting campus in-person, make sure to follow all directional signage, wear a face mask, sanitize your hands, and follow any posted health guidelines.

Let's start with MacEwan Student Centre (students often call it MacHall for short, MSC). This is at the heart of our campus. The building has many student offices, students' club centre, and so on.

International Student Services (ISS) is located on the 2nd floor of MacHall, which is the main level of the building. The office provides individual advising, events, and programs for international students to help adjust to life in Calgary and Canada. When it's open, it has a nice study lounge when you can escape the busy and hustle feeling of MacHall.

The INFO Desk is by the staircase on 2nd floor. It provides Lost and Found services and Student's Union payphone (no long distance). The desk only operates within certain hours during the summer and academic years. Check the Students' Union website directly for more information.

The service is available 24/7! You can request a Safewalk by calling Campus Security at 403.220.5333, using campus Help Phones (they are not just for emergencies), or approaching an on-duty Safewalk volunteer and requesting a walk.

Heading the opposite direction, back to MacHall staying on 1st floor, moving all the way past Jugo Juice, you can walk through an indoor link/hallway to Science B (SB).

From now on, it's mostly faculty buildings. Science A and B are connected. You can find study spaces almost everywhere in these two buildings. Science Theatres (ST) have larger lecture halls, which links to Bio Science building (BS). Bio Science building is the closest building to C-Train Station with less exposure to the outside and is good way to stay warmer and cut down on the distance you have to walk outside, if you're commuting during the winter months. You can also find Math Science (MS) and Earth Science (ES) buildings.

[Welcome to the brand-new-building section on campus]

ICT (Information & Communication Technologies) has food court (Good Earth Coffee), microwaves, and study spaces. You can see the EEEL (Energy, Environment, and Experiential Learning) Building from here (right across the street), where most of your science labs are located during the year.

Besides looking cool, the building has received several awards for its sustainability. They are also plenty study spots and nice view of the Rockies (on a clear sunny day).

From ICT, you can also see the Taylor Institute for Teaching and Learning (TI). They have many cool study spots (but hard to get) and many studios that can you book for group work and studying.

Figure 6. Taylor Institute for Teaching and Learning

If you keep walking straight, you will hit the Engineering Block (A, B, C, D, E, F, and ... G!): home of engineering students. There is nothing cool for students from other faculties except the Engineering Student Lounge, which is a nice spot for studying as well!

Further end (if you keep walking straight through Engineering Blocks) is the CCIT Building (Calgary Center for Innovative Technology). Here are many cool labs at U-of-C!

The other side of the campus includes the Administration building. Winter can be cold and long in Calgary, and if you miss some authentic green things, Atrium is the place to go! Just keep in mind that this place is super crowded (which makes sense) so get there early to grab a study spot! (There are no mosquitoes or other bugs here, guaranteed!)

If you are studying in Psychology, “home is where the heart is”, yes, Administration is your home department building!

You can loop through Professional Faculties (PF), which has connections to Education and Scurfield Hall, which is home to Haskayne School of Business. The Murry Fraser Hall and Craigie Hall have many big lecture rooms that different faculties use.

You can also find the South Bus Loop located outside between these two halls. It’s a great place to catch a bus to get around Calgary—or travel between Main Campus and the Foothills (hospital) Campus. Learn more about bus routes on the Calgary Public Transit website: <http://www.calgarytransit.com/>.
